Hilo Breakwater Staunchly Withstands Pounding of the Racing Seas

(Special to The Advertiser by Mutual Wireless)

HILO, January 10-The great storm which wrought damage up and down the Hamakua and Hilo coasts damaged the linkslau sugar mill, the waves at this point on Saturday night dashing over the roof of some of the mill buildings to points more than fifty feet high. The general damage to buildings and machinery amount to about three thousand dollars, but it is regarded as wonderful that the whole mill-structure, with its masses of machinery, was not wholly beaten down and destroyed. The roof of the machine shop, which is more than fifty feet above the normal sea level, was crushed in by the waves which broke over it and a por-tion of the shop is wrecked. The sugar and tilter press room is wrecked, while the surging waves deposited several hundred tons of boulders in the mill basement. During the height of the storm it was thought certain that the whole mill would be destroyed. Already the arrangements for repairing the storm damage are being made and the repairs will be speedily effeeted. Considerable damage was done to the Hilo Railroad, the tracks from Waiaken to the Hilo station being completenow being rushed through Mooheau Park, and the connections will be made tomorrow and traffic resumed as usual.

The storm is apparently over and the seas are moderating, although still running high. The Inter-Island steam-Mauna Kes is in shelter in Kubio

TILO BREAKWATER MAKES GOOD AT LAST

(Mail Special to The Advertiser.) HILO (Sunday), January 9-Kuhio wharf and the Hilo breakwater at last have come into their own! The federal government has spent a million, and the Territory more than $300,000 in making a protected harbor and a wharf inferior to none in the bouyed the harbor and has certified to just come to anchor a few hundred feet ing demorrer is not interposed for the world the Kuhio bay division of from Kuhio wharf, where she is lying delay." Hilo Harbor is a safe and secure port. with one anchor down and one stern harbor master and pilot, Captain Mosher, has, for the past year and more, reiterated to all comers that he would take the biggest ship afloat into Kuhio buy in any and all weathersnight as well as day-as soon as range lights were established.

In spite of all this, there has been a continuous detraction of the harbor and the wharf. There were "cur-' 'tide-rips,' and 'undertows' -nil kinds of dangers and fearsome things, seen and unseen, marine, and sub marine, aqueous and aerial, sub and super everything-lurking in the watters under, the air over and the land adjacent to Kubio wharf, waiting to leap upon and annihilate any craft so fool hardy as to venture within gunshot of its placed but treacherous waters.

Storm Shames Knockers Even on the brightest and sunniest days, when the dainty wavelets rippled at the base of the massive breakwater and around the solid rock and coral pier, a miasma of suspicion and inuendo hung over the "wretched apol-ogy for a wharf," which "pointed in the wrong direction," was "rottenly built," would be "washed out and demolished'' by the first big-storm-and more of the same kind, ad hittum. Under pressure from heavy freight shippers, the "scrub steamers" of the Matson line, the Enterprise and such, have been coming to the wharf in a furtive way, for a year past, leaving as soon as possible "lecause Kuhio bay isu't safe, you know!"

And now the great storm has come! Such a storm as the local historian, Rev. Stephen Desha, says has not visited Hilo since the death of Kauikeaouli Kamehamehalli, in the lifties. It has kept up for three days, and is heavier right now than at any time since it true as a church spire Capt. Mosher has made good! Hilo harbor on a calm day in June.

Captain Mosher not only made good today, but he made good yesterday. In fact, yesterday was the red letter Kuhio Not Fit Person day for Kuhio bay and Mosher. The oil tanker Lansing returned from a point 900 miles away, to land an injured seaman. In entering Hilo harbor she passed the Matsonia wallowing on Mosher met the Lansing in his little gasoline hunch, at the risk of his life, and without a moments' hesitation pointed her bow for Kuhio bay, where, within thirty minutes, under the lee of the breakwater, the injured mun was landed on the wharf and the Lansing once more resumed her voyage.

The Matsonia could have landed all her freight on Kubio wharf, taken her passengers and departed on schedule yesterday; and nothing prevented her doing it but the fact that "Kuhio bay is daugerous," and the further fact that ' 'consistency is a jewel' which must be jealously guarded.

But Kuhio's evil reputation is now a bug-a-boo, gone into the same limbo that for so long prevented the Pacific Mail steamers from entering the harbor of Honolulu, because it was "too small and unsafe.

It is of passing interest that Kuhio bay is deeper, wider, and of almost exactly the same area as the whole of Honolulu harbor.

Hereafter whenever any one tempts to knock Kuhio bay the all sufficient and complete answer will be, Remember the Matsonia and Janu-

That there is a misjoinder in parties person to pose as "next friend" eoutaining 5000 acres, approximately, berson to pose as "next friend" of the queen, and many other grounds are set out in two sets of demurrers filed is the only wild thing which roves the in the circuit court yesterday to the petition in equity under which Dele bounty in the amendment. Quinn did with him. gate Kalanianaole would have the court set aside the trust deed executed years ago by Queen Liliuokalani and under which her property is being conserved and managed by three trustees.

The petitioners mentioned in the suit brought by Kuhio himself, are Liliuokalani, by her next friend, Jonah Kuhio Kalanianaole, and Jonah Kubio Kalaniannole. Recently the queen, through Judge Antonio Perry, her special attorney, filof the action and a motion to dismiss the suit. In doing so Queen Liliuokalani set forth that the bill to break her trust deed had been brought without her consent, knowledge or authority and that she desired the trust to continue. Kunio's legal representatives to this filed a motion to strike from the files the name of Judge Perry as attorney of record for the queen.

The demurrers filed yesterday, both of which are alike in language, are, on the one hand, by the respondents W. O. Smith, Curtis P. lauken and S. M. Danon, trustees of the estate, and on the other hand by John A. Dominis and the dozen or more other beneficiaries named in the Queen's trust-deed. The attorneys for the trustees and the beneficiaries are Smith, Warren & Sutton, and And now! To cap the climax, the Matson fleet, associated Castle & Withington, and

Paragraph 8 reads:

"That it affirmatively appears from petition that the said Jonah Kuhio Ka lanianaole is not a at or proper person to suggest to the court or otherwise to challenge the providency or improvidency of the said trust deed or any other act of the said Liliuokalani for the disposition of her property, particularly as respects any disposition thereof by her to take effect after her death."

The demorrer further alleges that the petition does not show that Lilinokalani executed the trust deed without in dependent and disinterested legal advice; that neither does it appear that the deed, which was executed on December 2, 1909, "was not the free and vol untary act of the said Liliuokalani, executed with sufficient motives and upon sufficient consideration." It is further claimed that the same holds good in regard to the "amendatory and confirmatory instrument executed by the said Liliuokalani on April 20, 1910, the same holding true again in respec of another document signed by the Queen on October 11, 1911

It is also claimed that the petition shows that Liliuokalani has, in discontinuing her former suit and in execut ing the two later amendatory documents, affirmed and confirmed the ori ginal trust deed, this manifesting her intention and desire to keep that deed in force:

Further reference is made in the denurrers to the former suit for the cancellation of the trust deed, and that the demurrer means that Kuhio has Kuhlo's petition does not show that the been too slow in appealing to the court them.
